Letter Praises Daily Register for News and Pictures

MAIL: This department got hold of one of the nicest letters that Port's boys have processed for us. It came from Hazel Durfee, 6601 Windate drive, Waterford, Michigan.

The bulk of the letter delves into research about the "Green Thumb," discussed by this newspaper a few weeks ago, but here is the part we like:

"Dear Tim: A few weeks ago you asked about where the saying, Green Thumb, started. So I got busy and did a little research and here are the results.

"Please give us more pictures of in-and-around Harrisburg in the paper. To you people in Harrisburg those scenes don't, perhaps, mean so much. But to us 600 miles away from home they sure look good. Pictures of the court house and of the Kane racing farm make me homesick.

"Your column is what we read first as it contains so much news from home. So give us more pictures and home news.

"I really don't believe we could live up here if it weren't for The Daily Register."

Wasn't that nice?

THE McDONALDS IN GERMANY also have written us a nice letter.

Capt. and Mrs. Van B. McDonald, former Carrier Mills residents, are living at Frankfurt, Germany, where Capt. McDonald is stationed with the Army Medical Corps and Mrs. McDonald has been teaching in the primary grades of the dependent schools in Ansbach and Frankfurt.

They report to us a very interesting 15-day spring trip which took them through several interesting countries.

In Switzerland they visited Zurich and Geneva, then took a very interesting route through the Swiss Alps and in order to enter Italy this way they had to put their automobile on a train for a 20-mile trip through a tunnel.

In Italy they saw many interesting places, most noteworthy being Rome with its historical and religious sites.

"Vatican City, going through St. Peter's church was so beautiful that it was almost breathtaking," they write. They also enjoyed seeing the Leaning Tower of Pisa, Milan and Genoa.

"A most beautiful drive was taken along the coast and the Italian Riviera into France and the French Riviera, visiting such places as Monte Carlo, Nice and Cannes," the letter says.

They saw Spain and enjoyed Barcelona, where they saw a Spanish wedding in the old and colorful costumes. There they met and travelled for a while with two couples from Los Angeles, who were making a six months tour of Europe.

Leaving Spain they took the coast route through France and Italy up through the Brenner Pass into Austria. The drive through the Austrian Alps was scenic. They saw quaint houses, their roofs covered with large rocks, and beautiful paintings on the houses.

The McDonalds will be returning to the United States in June, when Capt. McDonald will be released from the service.

Kiwanis-Sponsored Singing Program at Cave-in-Rock Saturday

A singing program by well known quartets will be presented Saturday at 8 p. m. at the Cave-in-Rock high school. The program is being sponsored by the Cave-in-Rock Kiwanis club as a money-making venture for the club's civic activities.

The singing will feature Smilin' Joe Roper and his Melody Boys quartet from Little Rock, Ark.; The Hamilton Bros. quartet from Paducah, Ky.; and the Harmony Boys quartet from Metropolis.

Committee Order Signed By Sen. Mundt

McCarthy Says Assured Only Portion Of Files Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators today served a subpoena on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy for files on all cases on which G. David Schine worked.

McCarthy countered with a demand that they also subpoena Army files.

McCarthy showed newsmen the subpoena as he arrived for the afternoon session of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

The subpoena, signed in green ink by hearing chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.), called on McCarthy to "deliver forthwith" to special counsel Ray H. Jenkins all subcommittee files pertaining to the Voice of America; the Overseas Information Service; the Government Printing Office; Communists and subversives in the Army; "and all other files."

Despite the sweeping nature of the subpoena, McCarthy said, Mundt had assured him the Army-McCarthy investigators did not want the complete files of the past McCarthy investigations, but only the portions representing work done by Schine, a former unpaid subcommittee consultant who is now an Army private.

Schine Worked Nights

Roy M. Cohn, McCarthy subcommittee counsel, had testified this morning that Schine worked on several of the cases at nights and on weekends after he was drafted into the Army last fall. He was given many passes from Fort Dix, N. J., in order to do this work.

McCarthy said all the file material which Schine had produced was sent to Mundt.

"If we interpreted it as it originally appeared it would be impossible to carry on committee work," McCarthy told reporters.

Cohn, close personal friend of young Schine, also had testified that he had "no recollection" of ever saying "this is war" with the Army in a fit of anger.

He also denied that he had claimed current access to FBI files.

Cohn denied the celebrated quotations during testimony on his role in the Army-McCarthy dispute.

In the witness chair for the second consecutive day, Cohn was questioned by subcommittee counsel Ray H. Jenkins about testimony of Col. Kenneth E. Belieu, personal aide to Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

The incident at which Cohn made his alleged threats against the Army occurred Oct. 20 when he accompanied Stevens, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and others to the Army Signal Corps center at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Conducts Investigation

Cohn is chief counsel of McCarthy's subcommittee, which was at the time investigating alleged security risks in the secret radar works at Ft. Monmouth. Cohn was among a group of persons denied admission to a secret laboratory on the base that day because the Army had not cleared them for access to secret areas of the laboratories.

Belieu testified this week that Cohn said "this is war" and "we'll investigate the heck out of the Army" when he was barred. Belieu said Cohn also claimed that he had access to FBI files "when I want them."

Collective Security Urged by Haile Selassie in Address to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie today called upon the world to apply "fearlessly" the principle of collective security to assure world peace.

W. A. (Arthur) Plumlee

Name Plumlee Treasurer for School Dist. 43

Veteran Manual Arts Instructor Retires; 47 Years as Teacher

W. A. (Arthur) Plumlee, veteran manual arts instructor in the Harrisburg City schools, has been named District 43 school treasurer by the board of education.

Mr. Plumlee, who is retiring as a teacher as of the end of the present term, also will handle the stock room inventory for the city schools—a new part-time situation necessitated by expanding activities of the schools, including the school book rental system.

The school treasurer appointment is in line with the discontinuance of township school treasurers as of July 1, with school boards to select their own treasurers.

Mr. Plumlee, a teacher for 47 years, 35 of them in Harrisburg, began his career in a Williamson county rural school where there were 74 pupils, 15 of them older than the teacher.

Next he was principal of Boyd school at Marion, was at McKinley school, Mann school, Bandyville and Stonefort, all in Williamson county, and was in Franklin county one year before coming to Saline.

He was principal of Muddy school for two years. During the second year the primary teacher was Mabel Tison, and they were married in July, 1916. Next followed principalships at College Heights north of Eldorado and at Cottage Grove for one year each.

He has been manual arts teacher in the Harrisburg school system for the past 35 years.

Mr. Plumlee holds Bachelor and Master of Arts degrees from Western State college.

In his early life he attended Gem City business college at Quincy, Illinois, graduating in bookkeeping and banking. He holds state life supervisory certificates in Colorado and Illinois.

Memorial Day Will Be Observed Monday

The public today was reminded that businesses that close on holidays will close Monday, May 31, which is the date that Memorial Day will be celebrated in Harrisburg. Memorial Day falls on Sunday.

There will be no issue of The Daily Register Monday.

On Monday there will be the annual ceremony at Sunset Hill and Sunset Lawn cemeteries.

"We have successfully applied the system of collective security in Korea," he said, "we must now, wherever in the world the peace is threatened, pursue its application more resolutely than ever and with courageous acceptance of its burdens."

He thanked Congress for lend-lease assistance during World War II and for mutual security aid, and technical assistance under the Point Four program since the war.

Emperor Goes to Church

"We have become a land of expanding opportunities where the American pioneering spirit, ingenuity, and technical abilities have been and will continue to be welcomed," he said.

Selassie opened the third day of his four-day visit here by attending special religious services at the Washington Cathedral. Sandwiched between the church visit and the address to Congress were trips to the Supreme Court and the Library of Congress.

Time to Choose, Junior High Graduates Told

Everything is By Choice, Commencement Speaker Advises

It is time to choose, Junior high school graduates were advised last night in a commencement address by Miss Dorothy Colonius, chairman of the English department of the Alton high school. "Everything in living is by choice," she stated.

"What is high school going to be?" Miss Colonius asked. It can be a play place or a learning place, she said. High school should not be a play pen, a club, a prison or just class rooms, Miss Colonius stated. Students who enter high school should not "short change" their parents, she said.

Choose right now what you are going to do next fall, Miss Colonius advised the Junior high school graduates. Choose your subjects now and avoid the easy ones. Do not go through a "narrowing" process, but have an intellectual curiosity, she urged.

Choose the Best

Choose your opportunities and choose what you want to do, Miss Colonius advised. If you do not work now, then you will be underemployed in later life and it will be because you chose to be that way, she said.

Choose your friends and avoid roughnecks, Miss Colonius advised the graduates. Do not choose friends for their "cars or pretty clothes" but because they are real people, she said.

Choose the best you can get, she finally advised.

Miss Colonius compared the graduates to authors writing their autobiography. "It is a book of every minute you live," she said. The first few chapters have gone slowly and have been preparing for the plot. The interesting part of the book is now beginning and it will be as interesting as you make it, she said.

Choose Right

"Choose the best," Miss Colonius advised, "because you will soon be out to write the rest of the book. You can't tell what is coming, and that is the nice thing about living. You don't need to know what is going to happen, but it is important to know what you must learn now. If you choose right, you will learn what you should know," she concluded.

Miss Colonius was introduced by Louise Beltz, principal of Junior high school, and following her address Russell Malan, superintendent of schools, presented the graduating class to the board of education. He introduced Curtis G. Small, president of the board.

George Barnes, G. H. Muge, J. A. Bottomley and Vernard Clayton who were present.

Presentation of diplomas was by George Barnes, who was the official representative of the board. Mr. Barnes praised the class for its good attendance, which was an average of 97.9 per cent during the year, and the outstanding records of the class especially the records of good citizenship and good conduct.

The Junior high school band, directed by W. W. Chunn, played for the professional and recession. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ridenour directed the class in the presentation of "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," by Irving Berlin.

John W. F. Davis, 79, Dies; Funeral Saturday 2:30 p. m.

John W. F. Davis, 79, well-known Harrisburg resident who had been in poor health for the past 12 years, died at his home, 130 South Vine, Thursday at 3:45 p. m.

He was born in Ridgway December 28, 1874, to John and Mary Davis, and on July 9, 1902, he married Effie Barger. A Spanish-American War veteran, he was a retired barber, and at one time a Rotarian and an Elk.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the Gaskins funeral home, where the funeral will officiate, and burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery. The family has requested that no flowers be sent.

He is survived by his wife, Effie; two children, Mrs. George Hensley, Harrisburg, and Attorney John Paul Davis, of Anna; and three grandchildren, Jerry and Sherry Hensley, and John Paul Davis Jr.

Palbearers will be B. W. Henley, H. E. Jones, Hugh Walker, Bolen Perkins, Walter Brown and Charles Gee.

32 Get Diplomas at Dorrisville; Kibler is Honored at Reception

A crowd of over 200 attended the commencement exercises last evening at the Dorrisville grade school where a graduation class of 32 was presented diplomas.

The program opened with the song "Forest Echoes," played by the school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. John Woolcott. This was followed by the procession, "Dignity." After the members of the graduation class had taken their places on the platform, the invocation was given by Rev. Louise Durfee.

The "Hiking Song" was sung by the eighth grade boys sextet composed of Leroy Agin, Glen Berry, Beal, Robert Wilson, Clifton Harris, Gene Lyon and Wendell Fisher, and the eighth grade girls' sextet, which includes Judy Hicks, Linda Stacey, Beverly Bristow, Darlene Abbey, Mary Jane Mullinix and Pat Durfee, sang "By the Bend of the River."

The address for the occasion was given by the Dean of the college of education from the Southern Illinois university, Douglas E. Lawson. His talk was based on the theme "What to do With Your Education."

Since Harrison Kibler, president of the school board of education, had resigned recently to accept the post of treasurer, the diplomas were presented to the class by Robert Mullinix, the newly appointed president of the board.

The benediction was given by Rev. William B. Fuson.

The class recessional brought the affair to a close.

Following the commencement the teachers, board members, custodian and women from the cafeteria met in the lunch room for a surprise reception in honor of Mr. Kibler. After refreshments of ice cream and angel food cake, the principal, Brose Phillips, gave a short talk on the history of the school since Mr. Kibler became a director on the school board in 1933.

Mr. Kibler served on the board of education for three years, and from that time was either clerk or president. During his many years of service to the school he did not miss a meeting. In 1933 when he became a member the country was in a depression and the district was heavily in debt, the amount being $17,000. The facilities in the building were poor. There was only one wash basin in the school for over 300 children; there were outdoor toilets, no physical education program, no cafeteria, no kindergarten, no homemaking department, and the artificial lighting consisted of small bulbs on cords from the ceilings.

Death Takes Perry Cain, 79

Perry Cain, 79, 501 West Church street, a truant officer for a number of years, died Friday morning at the Anna State hospital. He had been seriously ill since April 13 of this year.

He was the son of the late George and Ann Cain and was born in Saline county in January, 1875. His wife, Millie, preceded him in death, dying in February of 1920.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Emma White, Peoria, and a brother, Ace Cain, Marion. Four sisters and one brother also preceded him in death.

The body is now at the Gaskins funeral home where the funeral will be Sunday at 2 p. m. Rev. W. L. Cummins will officiate, and burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery.

Carrier Fire Death Toll Rises to 96

QUONSET POINT, R. I. (AP)—The death list in the aircraft carrier Bennington explosion and fire climbed rapidly today toward the 100 mark which its skipper had set as the probable toll of the disaster.

As more victims succumbed to burns and injuries at Newport Naval hospital, a four-man naval board of inquiry prepared to open public hearings Saturday into the tragedy. No decision on what caused the disaster is expected for at least three weeks.

Soon after Wednesday's tragedy, Capt. William F. Raborn Jr., commander of the Bennington, said he believed the death toll would be about 100.

Five more deaths of the critically wounded Thursday night and today brought the toll to 96.

Witness Against Reds Probed By Justice Dep't

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Communist Paul Crouch, under investigation by the Justice Department for possibly giving conflicting testimony in two federal cases, said today he will file a one-million dollar libel suit "in less than 30 days" against two newspapers.

Crouch said the suit will be filed against Joseph and Stewart Alsop, brothers who write a syndicated column.

Crouch, a veteran government witness against Reds, also said he is submitting to Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover, and the commissioner of immigration a detailed answer to "14 derogatory allegations" published about him during the past two months.

Crouch Under Investigation

Brownell reluctantly disclosed Thursday that Crouch is under investigation. He made the disclosure a few hours after a Crouch report on communism in the armed services touched off a row in the Army-McCarthy hearing.

Brownell said he was "sorry" the investigation had become public and he emphasized that it "does not mean that a person is guilty" of any charge.

He had been asked at a news conference about published reports of Joseph Alsop that there was a direct conflict between testimony Crouch gave in the 1949 perjury trial of West Coast longshore leader Harry Bridges and the testimony he gave in the current Philadelphia trial of 12 "second string" Communist leaders.

Asks Thorough Inquiry

Crouch said in his statement today that he is asking Brownell and Hoover to make a thorough and complete investigation of allegations made against him by the Alsop brothers, columnist Drew Pearson, the Daily Worker, the Honolulu Record, The Nation, and I. F. Stone's Weekly.

He said the allegations are part "of the propaganda around the J. Robert Oppenheimer case and are intended as a smoke screen." He did not elaborate.

CADET DAN C. BROWN, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Brown, Harrisburg, has been attending Columbia Military Academy at Columbia, Tenn., and will graduate from the academy June 2. Cadet Brown has received several awards during his two year term, including the Athletic medal, Track medal, Declaration medal, and Gold Star Platoon. His platoon had the honor of performing at the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, and at the Strawberry Festival at Humboldt, Tenn. Cadet Brown will return home for the summer on June 3rd.

Effingham Votes to Buy Water Company

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP)—Effingham residents voted Thursday to buy the water company from the Effingham Water Works Inc. for $580,000.

The price will be paid by revenue bonds drawing 3 1/2 per cent interest and will be retired out of the sale of water.

Commission Advises 1700 Mile System

Survey Will Be Used for Final Priority of Routes

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Toll Roads Commission today released a survey recommending a four-stage, 1,700-mile expressway system of toll and free turnpikes for the state.

The system would include 1,400 miles of toll roads and about 300 miles of existing or planned expressway on U. S. 60 and U. S. 41.

The survey recommended a 2 cent per mile rate as "proper" for most of the toll routes studied.

The survey was to be used in a conference between the commission and Gov. William G. Stratton starting at 2 p. m. CDT today for a final determination of priority of routes.

Joseph Knoerle & Associates of Baltimore and Chicago made the report.

Outline Initial Work

The Knoerle survey recommended the first stage of construction of toll roads, to be started as soon as possible, include three routes:

1. A "tri-state" turnpike circling the city of Chicago from the Indiana line to the Wisconsin line, with the northwest section heading toward Milwaukee.

2. A northern Illinois turnpike from Chicago to Rockford, leading toward Madison, Wis.

3. An "east-west" turnpike from west of Chicago to the Quad-Cities.

The surveying firm said these turnpikes should be built with money from a single bond issue, with a total of about $7 million dollars, needed for the 286 miles.

"Each of these routes has revenue potential indicating immediate feasibility," the report said.

Second Phase

The second phase of construction of the initial 10-year program recommends two more routes totaling 282 miles and costing 284 million dollars. The total of these first two phases is 568 miles at a cost of 671 million dollars.

The second phase routes are:

1. A connection between the tri-state turnpike near Chicago to a point west of Danville.

2. The "Old National Trail" turnpike from East St. Louis to south of Terre Haute, Ind.

Suggests Detailed Studies

As a third stage of the report it is recommended that the commission consider construction of U. S. 66 between East St. Louis and Mount Olive and between Gardner and the tri-state turnpike near Chicago. If the recommendations are decided on, then the report recommends these links at each end of U. S. 66 in Illinois be made part of the first phase of construction as toll roads.

The commission said the initial toll roads can be financed with 35-year bonds and a 3.5 per cent interest rate.

The fourth stage of the report listed a number of other possible toll routes but said these were not in the suggested 10-year program.

"They do not have sufficient revenue potential at this time to be feasible as revenue bond projects. Future developments may alter this situation," the report said.

The fourth stage projects included a route to connect with the lower end of the eastern Illinois turnpike between Danville and Champaign and run along the eastern border of the state to Cairo.

Another "future" expressway would run from East St. Louis to Brookport.

Mother of Louis Bobka Dies

Mrs. Nellie Bobka, 80, widow of Anthony Bobka, McLeansboro, died late yesterday following a heart attack.

She is survived by three sons, Joseph at home, Walter, Chicago, and Louis, Harrisburg, and three grandchildren.

The body is now at the Union funeral home in West Frankfort, and funeral plans are incomplete. The funeral mass will be said at St. John's Catholic church in West Frankfort.

See Brighter Future for Southern Illinois Through Efforts of SII

Southern Illinois can look to a brighter tomorrow despite the present dire predicament of its coal miners. Thanks to the persistent and tireless efforts of the officers and members of a thing called Southern Illinois Incorporated, this down-state area of sixteen chronically depression ridden counties has more reason to hope for a better
social and economic future than it has had in the past thirty years.
Ever since dynamic Orville W. Ly-erla founded it, this area organization has labored for economic improvement—sometimes awkwardly and lamely, often slowly, scarcely showing any progress, often in adversity and often handicapped and sometimes discredited at home.

Southern Illinois Incorporated
scarcely survived the disrupting upheavals of the war years. Two years ago its board of directors was described by one of its present active members as "a bunch of sitting ducks." At times its executive director was like a prophet
without honor in his own country.
But it had not been idle even then.
The plans laid and the effort expended in those uncertain and disheartening times past are only now
beginning to show great promise.

Young Blood Added
The May 24 regular monthly meeting of the S.I.I. Board of Directors, at the organization's headquarters at Carverville, presented a marked contrast to a similar meeting just two years ago. Some old familiar faces were conspicuously absent. New, young blood had been added. An alert, interested board waded through a heavy action agenda touching all phases of agriculture, recreation, education and industry in its far flung area of operations.

Southern Illinois university,
whose phenomenal growth and conversion from a Normal school to a full fledged university has come about through the strong support
of many southern Illinois organizations, including S.I.I., is today a main cog in S.I.I. promotional activities, particularly its Division of Area Services. President Morris,
Professors Brownell and Allen,
Doctor Tudor and others are prominent in S. I. I. affairs. Scenic, historical and recreational promotion of the southern Illinois area is only a small part of their contribution to area improvement. Criss-crossing historic and scenic trails
are now being mapped in the area
as an S. I. U. - S. I. I. project.

Recreation Project
A heavy recreational promotion
project, with a rich, future tourist industry in view, is under way. A trial run of 28,000 scenic postals,
on seven subjects, has been printed
as a tourist come-on. Postals showing Vachel Davis' famed portrait,
"The Coal Miner," in color, were given to members and guests at the meeting. An area photographer reported on plans for a six-phase
ogues for area promotion.

Always topping the S.I.I. agenda,
however, with everything else subordinate, is industrial development.
This steady, sustained drive has recently gained new impetus. Its two-phase policy is to attract more new industry and keep present industries "happy." An ad in the Wall Street Journal, extolling the advantages to industry in southern Illinois, is one small punch of the first phase. S. I. I. efforts at ironing out the Merit Casket Company
problem and general improvement of labor-management relations in the area are typical examples of the latter.

The Merit Casket problem, a fine
print technicality on labor relations which sent the principal back to Chicago, hears promise of an early solution. Merit is reported willing to return to southern Illinois.

Overall Picture
The Hoosier-Cardinal Corporation is not quitting the area, it was reported, but is seeking an opportunity for expanding its production.
The present overall industrial picture of the area was reported as follows: All industries, with the exception of coal mining, are holding their own, or expanding, and there is much Federal and State interest in the coal industry's problem.

Still with an eye to industrial promotion, area resources got heavy hitting at this meeting. Slides were shown to illustrate the area's forestry and lumber potential and its problems. Unemployment relief and an abundance of trees in the state bore an odd synonymity.
Southern Illinois was reported using only half of its available timber growth and the growth itself could be tripled. Lumber men present explained the need for a market
for waste products, such as "fines"
and "blockage," from timber processing. The crux of the problem appears to be one of attracting a plant to utilize these products or cheaper transportation to such plants. The manufacture of masonite and celotex were pointed out
as possible markets.

To Build Kilm at SIU
But lumbering improvement, a long term S. I. I. project, is well under way. A pilot kilm, for which construction material is already at hand, is to be built at S. I. U. A lumber industry was reported interested in locating in this area. A kilm is already in operation by Gilbert Page at West Frankfort.

A mineral resources report was a high spot on the evening's agenda
as far as future industrial development is concerned. Geoffrey Hughes, executive director, reported on the development of a coal utilization plant for the area. He called attention to a two-phase project
coupling steam distillation of oil
from coal with the Harman process of reduction of iron ore fines and low grade iron ores, as proposed by Joe K. Giffen, St. Louis and Clarkburg, W. Va. chemical engineer and industrialist, at a previous meeting of S. I. I. directors and area coal men, at Benton. In addition to these two main features of the dual process, eleven chemical by-products could be produced and marketed, as well as cheap salvage of titanium.

Promise Cooperation
Mr. Hughes read a letter addressed by the head of the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals to Senator Dirksen lauding the coal utilization proposal and asking full support of it. Senator Dirksen wrote Hughes promising full cooperation and support. Senator Douglas also wrote S. I. I. expressing deep interest in the proposed plans. Congressman Bishop, of the 25th Illinois district, also wrote Hughes promising full collaboration with Dirksen. Governor Stratton was reported to be very enthusiastic about the proposal. Franklin
P. Wood Associates of Washington, D. C., is also reported actively interested in a coal utilization plant.

An engineer present at the meeting pointed out the ideal advantage
and convenience of barge transportation of iron ore fines from Minnesota to southern Illinois and heartily endorsed the proposal. The Defense Department may take up the coal utilization program as a defense measure, it was reported.

An off-the-record report on mineral resources included a glowing account of rich limestone and marble deposits in the area and prospects in the quarrying industry.

Discuss Rt. 13 Improvement
The board was brought up to date on developments in the Rend
Lake Association's promotion of a 13,500 acre impoundment of Big Muddy River water in Franklin and Jefferson counties. S. I. I. reaffirmed its cooperation and support of the Rend Lake project.

The proposed new Shawneetown-
St. Louis highway, the Route 13 improvement, the U. S. Route 53 project and the Ozark Air Lines extension were discussed. Promotion of these enterprises was reported to be making satisfactory progress.

Things are looking up in a lot
of places in southern Illinois,
thanks to S. I. I. The organization itself is growing bigger and stronger and is receiving support and recognition from points as far away
as St. Louis and Chicago. Coal companies and labor unions are cooperating with it. Area utilities are heavy financial contributors.
New members are Bunny Bread of Anna; J. A. McCreery Lumber Co.,
Benton; Good Luck Glove Co., Carbondale; Hoe Supply Company,
Christopher; and Marion Legion
Home Association, Inc., Marion.

Need Area Support
But S. I. I. is still faced with the problem of how to arouse total area support and participation. Selling and promotion have been carried on apace by enthusiastic individual members and a concerted membership drive is in the work hopper.

S. I. I. president, Walter W. Nau-
mer, and M. J. Bozarth, of Murphysboro, both deplored prevailing sectionalism and suspicion of selfish
local interests on the part of S. I. I.
There can't be any selfish motive
on the part of men who willingly offer personal financing of S. I. I. efforts, it was pointed out. "These men are working hard at S. I. I.
promotional enterprises all over the southern Illinois area and are paying $100 and up for the privilege of doing it," Naumer said.

Jack Lewis, of Bunny Bread fame, invited the board to hold its June meeting in Anna. Coffee and doughnuts were offered as a lure.

See Little Chance of Action On Water and Power Bills

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—While Republican leaders display varying degrees of confidence in their ability to put through President Eisenhower's bold new program, it must not be overlooked that some parts of this program have not even been sent to Congress.

Most notable of these shortcomings is in the field of electric power and water resources policy.

President Eisenhower's State
of the Union message last January promised that recommendations on a uniform water resources policy
would be submitted to the Congress
later. He didn't say how much later.

Word from the Department of Interior is that its recommendations on this subject will be made to the White House soon. The fact seems to be that the new team at Interior has had its troubles making up its mind what it wants.

THIS HAS BEEN complicated by Department of Agriculture, Army Corps of Engineers and other government agencies which have their own interests in this all-important subject.

What comes out, therefore, will apparently be pretty much in the nature of an interim policy. It will not have congressional approval. At the rate Congress is now going, nothing will be done about water policy this year except for a few pet projects that may happen
to get over the wires by political log rolling.

Government reorganization of the several competing agencies
handling water resources policy
won't be included. That subject is now in the hands of a special task force of ex-President Herbert Hoover's commission on reorganizing of the executive branch of government.

This task force, under retired
Adm. Ben Moreel, now head of Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. of Pittsburgh, just recently began hearings in San Francisco. It plans
a series of such hearings across the country and won't be ready to report until next year.

The Administration's power policy is further tied up in the Hells

Canyon case now nearing its first anniversary before the Federal Power Commission. There won't be an examiner's initial report on that before next year.

THE WHITE HOUSE itself is tied in a knot over such simple things as selection of a new chairman for the Tennessee Valley Authority, although many people of that area seem to think Gordon Clapp, who resigned, is still the best man available.

Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay has made repeated statements that the federal government
under the Republican administration will continue to build multi-purpose dams on the main watersheds.

He has endorsed such projects
as John Day Dam on the Columbia, Glendo Dam in the Missouri basin
and new power production units for other partially completed projects.
But there have been no recommendations for new dam starts going to Congress.

Major effort of the Administration has been to encourage state and local public organizations and private power companies to develop hydroelectric sites. Applications to build a dozen such projects
have been filed in the past year.
On some of these the Administration proposes federal loans.

This record of the Eisenhower administration on power and water resources development came under concentrated attack at the recent Democratic National Committee
powwow in Washington.

IN AN ALL-MORNING session
presided over by former Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman, Democratic congressmen from every section of the country blasted their opponents for lack of a program.

Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma read the record on flood control and reclamation cutbacks.
Rep. Richard Bolling of Kansas City, speaking on the subject of how power policy had been reversed, expressed himself as "flabber-gasted by willingness of the Administration to embrace a policy
of complete selfishness."

Rep. Percy Priest of Tennessee

presented the case for TVA. Rep.
John F. Shelley of San Francisco
reviewed the fight to turn the Central Valley project over to state control. On the Trinity River project, he charged the plan was not only to "give it away, but pay 'em
to take it."

Rep. Ed Edmondson of Oklahoma charged "murder" of Rural Electrification Administration by Southwestern Power Administration's new policy.

Live wire that really looks it

(One reason why Buick is such a big success this year!)

ITS sports-car lines tell you there's lift and spirit here enough for any man.

Even standing still this glamor car
looks alive.

And that look-of-tomorrow styling
that's part and parcel of every new Buick—that sweeping panoramic windshield with the dream-car
slant—all that says there's action
here, and plenty of it.

But just note the name "CENTURY"
emblazoned on its rear fender, and you can take it as gospel that this is a performance car of the very first water.

It's the livest of the live wires—the highest-voltage Buick in the line.

It is instant on getaway, a joy in cruising, a breeze on hills—and a honey of a friend in the added safety of its plenty reserve power always on hand for sudden needs.

It is, in fact, a 200-horsepower performance car, and priced far below
it—the highest-powered car at its price in the land.

With this great-powered good-looker setting the pace—and with

equally impressive SPECIALS, SUPERS and ROADMASTERS adding to the excitement—is it any wonder Buick today is outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three"?
Come in and try one of these gor-

Miss Sandra Smith, Eugene Pavelonis Married in Ceremony at East Moline

CUT WEDDING CAKE—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Pavelonis are shown cutting their wedding cake at a reception following their marriage May 8, at East Moline.

Miss Sandra Jane Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beryl L. Smith, East Moline, became the bride of Eugene B. Pavelonis, son of Mrs. Alice Pavelonis, Harrisburg, Saturday afternoon, May 8, in the East Moline First Baptist church.

The Rev. A. M. Boudoin performed the 2 o'clock double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white lilies, ferns and palms. Soft organ music was furnished by Ernest Bennett.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, was gown in white chantilly lace over duchess satin, fashioned with long sleeved all lace scoop neckline bodice. The bouffant skirt was designed with corded-pleated flounce extending into a cathedral train. A crown of chantilly lace edged in small seed pearls secured her lace-edged veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white calla lilies with stephanotis streamers.

Miss LeAlice Dempsey, Springfield, was maid of honor, and the Misses Jo Kelly, Atlantic, Iowa, Mary Lou Papish, East Moline, and Marilyn Danielson, Moline, were bridesmaids. They were attired in floor length dresses with lace bodices and full nylon net and taffeta skirts and lace jackets. Miss Dempsey was in lavender and the bridesmaids in yellow. Matching headpieces were covered with small flowers.

Kathleen Smith, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a dress of white moire taffeta and nylon net with rows of ruffles on the skirt.

The bride's attendants carried crescent bouquets of white or lavender lilies.

Jack Meincke, East Moline, was best man, and ushers were Gayle Smith, Coal Valley, Hillary Hallet, Alton, and Edward Murrens, East Moline.

Lilies decorated the church parlors for the reception where greenery surrounded the wedding cake centerpiece.

For the wedding trip Mrs. Pavelonis chose a navy linen dressmaker suit with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of East Moline high school and attended Shurtleff college, Alton, and is now employed by Brown-Hornsey Printing company in Alton. Mr. Pavelonis, a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school, received his bachelor of science degree at Shurtleff college. He is teacher in East Alton junior high school.

Miss Opal Metcalf Marries
Dean White at Muncie, Ind.

In an informal ceremony Tuesday, May 18, performed by the Rev. Lewis W. Gishler, Miss Opal Metcalf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Metcalf, 508 West Raymond, and Dean White, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. White of Muncie, Ind., were married at the home of the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sechman, in Muncie.

All white flowers were arranged on the mantle of the fireplace before which the vows were exchanged. Wedding bells were suspended above the scene.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Wayne Metcalf, Harrisburg, wore a dress of blue faille and a white beaded hat. She carried a nosegay of gardenias and pink rosebuds.

Miss Velma Metcalf, Muncie, Ind., sister of the bride, was attired in a pink lace dress over matching tulle, and carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Little Linda Ann Jett was flower girl and best man was Russell Clark of Muncie.

For the reception in the dining room a three-tiered cake centered the bridal table. On either side were white candles tied with rosebuds. Bouquets of roses, carnations, lilies-of-the-valley and snowballs were arranged throughout the house.

The couple left later for a wedding trip to southern Indiana, and upon their return they will reside at 703 East Sixth street, Muncie. The bridegroom was graduated from Hartford City high school. Both are employed at the Hotel Roberts.

15 HHS Graduates In Catholic Youth Council Honored With Dinner

Fifteen members of the Catholic Youth Council who are in the 1954 graduating class of the Harrisburg Township high school were honored with a dinner Wednesday evening given by St. Ann's Altar society. The mothers of the graduates prepared and served the dinner with Mrs. Mary Humm as chairman.

Rev. T. G. Bruns and Mrs. Marie McCormick were especially invited guests and the class presented Father Bruns with a gift and Mrs. McCormick was given a corsage.

The table was in T shape laid with white cloths and decorated with roses. The place card holders were Holy Water fountains.

The graduates present for the dinner were Fredericka Christman, Lucille Erris, Stephen Golden, Thomas Golden, Eugenia Gollhier, James L. Govan, Mary Anne Humm, James Matthews, Regina McCormick, Dolores McDonald, Carol Richmond, Mary Taylor, Joann Willis, Marjorie Zimmer and Frank Chase.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harris have returned from Springfield where they attended a convention of Illinois druggists.

New Chevrolet Trucks...

do more work per day... more work per dollar!

You save time in traffic. New truck Hydra-Matic transmission gets you off to smooth, time-saving starts without shifting or clutching. Imagine how easy this makes driving in traffic and on delivery routes! It's optional at extra cost on 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton models.

You save time on the highway. New high-compression power gets you up to highway speeds from a standing start in less time, and saves you time on hills, too. You make trips faster—and the new Comfortmaster cab makes them seem shorter. It's got everything!

You save extra trips, too. That's because of the extra load space you get in the new Advance-Design bodies. New pickup bodies are deeper... new stake and platform bodies are wider and longer. Also, they're set lower to the ground for easier loading.

You save on operating costs. High-compression power saves you money! The "Thriftmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235," and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost), deliver greater horsepower plus increased operating economy.

You save with lower upkeep. New Chevrolet trucks are built stronger to last longer and save you money on maintenance. There are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models... bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models... stronger frames in all models.

And your savings start the day you buy. In fact, they start with the low price you pay—and they never stop. Chevrolet, you know, is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. And it's also the truck that has a traditionally high trade-in value.

Come in and see how much you're ahead with America's number one truck. You'll like the way we're talking business!

Pythian Sisters Honor Mrs. Madeline Heflin

The Pythian Sisters met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eddy, 108 West College street, Tuesday evening, May 25, for a potluck dinner in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Madeline Heflin.

The group gathered around the table and joined in singing the Birthday Song to Mrs. Heflin. The table was beautifully decorated with a large centerpiece of flowers, and a large birthday cake on either side, complete with lighted candles.

After dinner Mrs. Eddy was presented with a parasol, tightly folded together, and when she opened the parasol, a shower of lovely handkerchiefs fell around her. This was in honor of her loyalty and love for each one and for the order. Among the shower of handkerchiefs was a special gift, given to her by Mrs. Grace Johns, for her TV set. Mr. and Mrs. Eddy are leaving soon for Tucson, Arizona, where they will visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Major and Mrs. Quentin L. Hancock and family. From there they will travel on to Santa Anna, Calif., where they will visit with Mrs. Eddy's brother and family, John W. Ford.

Games were played and several received nice prizes. Those present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, Mr. and Mrs. James Johns, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Lancelott Pattinson, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Simpson, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, Mrs. Jessie Hatcher, Mrs. Hattie Odum, Mrs. Helen Day, Mrs. Elsie Cain and two sons, Mrs. Ruby Walker, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. Stella Vaughn, Mrs. Dollie Johnson, Mrs. Gladys Day, Mrs. Mary Estes, Mrs. Helen Newman and two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude White, Mrs. Bessie Cain, Carolyn Diggs, John Bill Hatcher, Mrs. Madeline Heflin, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eddy. Guests included Mrs. Cora Vander-Pluym, Mrs. Merle Bartlett, Mrs. Eva Stelbins of West Frankfort and Mrs. Dora Ruppert, also a Pythian Sister visiting here from Midland, Maryland.

Doug Matthews, Going to Service, Nina Patton Given Gifts at Party

Doug Matthews, announcer at WSIL-TV, is leaving the Harrisburg television station June 14 for induction into the armed forces and a farewell party was given him and Nina Patton, who is leaving the employ of the station, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Turner Jr. Thursday.

Both were presented gifts.

A picnic supper, consisting of fried chicken with trimmings and strawberry shortcake, was held in the garden at the Turner home with approximately 35 persons, television station employees and their families, present.

Jeannine Ray, granddaughter of Mrs. Grace Durham, was recently initiated into Pi Beta Phi sorority at the University of Louisville, Ky. At the banquet which followed the ceremony she was honored by being given the best pledge award.

Senate Group Okays Liberal Housing Loans

By United Press
The Senate Banking Committee today approved a housing bill providing more liberal terms on government-insured mortgages for individual homes.

The bill also provides for public housing—a feature certain to set off a states' rights fight on the Senate floor over the segregation issue.

Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (D-S.C.), previously a public housing proponent, has said he will fight the public housing feature of the bill because the Supreme Court has ruled against segregation in such projects.

The bill as sent to the floor requires 5 per cent down payments on the first $8,000 of the cost of a house and 25 per cent down payments for that above $8,000. The committee previously had approved a $9,000 figure, and the House had approved $10,000. The committee action put the Senate in a bargaining position to strike for a compromise $9,000.

The committee also voted to require that banks and other lending agencies assume 20 per cent of the risk for home improvements. Most lending agencies, in effect, now take no risk on such government-guaranteed home improvement loans.

CAUTION IS THE WORD FOR THAT THREE-DAY HOLIDAY

380 WILL DIE IN MEMORIAL DAY WEEKEND—An estimate, based on past three-day Memorial Day weekends, says that 380 people will die in highway accidents during this year's long holiday. The estimate, by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, also says that of the 380 fatal accidents, 210 will be due to excessive speeding and alcohol. Illustrated below are the most common highway accidents and their relation to the 380 total.

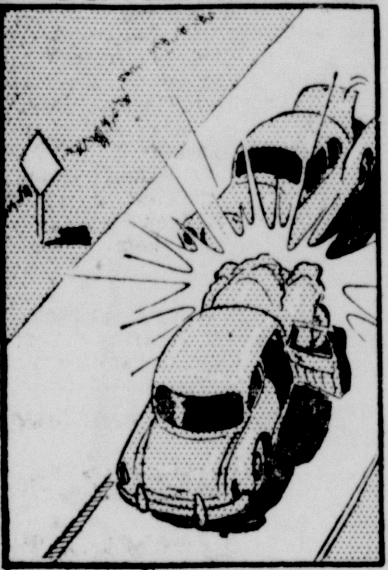

SPEEDING will be responsible for 126 of the predicted 380 Memorial Day weekend highway accident deaths.

OVERDOING IT with alcohol will contribute to the deaths of 84 persons, both motorists and pedestrians.

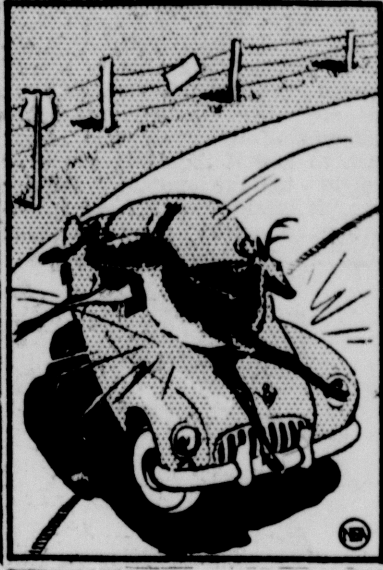

RIGHT OF WAY ignored is expected to result in Memorial Day weekend accidents that will kill 27 people.

FAILURE to keep to right of center line is a prominent cause of highway accidents. Expected toll: 38 dead.

SLEEPING at the wheel, or overfatigue is a subtle danger and is expected to claim 24 victims.

ACCIDENTS caused by miscellaneous factors will kill the final 81 of the predicted 380 total.

Tornadoes and Rain Storm Hits Chicago Area

By United Press
Tornadoes struck the heavily populated Chicago area last night and rain storms, driven by howling winds, lashed the metropolis and three Midwest states.

The worst damage centered in the Aurora, Ill., region, 40 miles west of Chicago. A tornado cut through rural areas and flicked the northeast corner of Aurora, ripping off three roofs and moving several homes off their foundations.

Another tornado funnel appeared closer to Chicago, 10 miles west of O'Hare Field on the city's outskirts. However, it disappeared before causing any damage.

Chicago Given Beating
Chicago was raked by a violent rain storm during the danger period. At least seven homes were struck by lightning, and a bolt knocked a bridge over the Chicago river out of commission, preventing a large ship from passing.

Violent storms were also reported in Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota. Tornado warnings were issued for all three states for a while, as well as the Chicago area and parts of Kansas, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and South Dakota.

A possible tragedy threatened at Aurora when a downed power line fell across a bus. But the passengers fled out of the vehicle without injury.

The village of Oswego, Ill., was thrown into darkness for at least three hours and felled trees blocked U. S. 30 for more than an hour. High Winds Sweep Iowa

Winds estimated at 80 miles per hour swept Fort Dodge, Iowa, and a violent storm, accompanied by more than an inch of rain, knocked out electricity in parts of Sioux City, Iowa. A twister funnel was sighted north of Sioux City, but apparently did not touch the ground.

At Scottsbluff, Neb., winds up to 70 miles per hour stirred up "solid walls" of dust. Visibility was cut to zero and highways were blocked by dust banks 4 to 12 inches high.

Slumber Party by Sheriff's Daughter Disturbs Prisoner

ROBINSON, Ill. — William Dix was glad to leave for the Menard State Penitentiary today so he could "get some rest" after 20 girls held a slumber party in the Crawford County Jail Thursday night.

The daughter of Sheriff Everett Alexander was hostess to the girls who graduated from eighth grade Thursday night. They took over the unused top floor of the jail for the slumber party but instead of sleeping they made so much noise the sheriff had to quiet them down early today.

Dix, a parole violator, said he'd be glad to get back to Menard so he could get some rest.

Agree to Hold Military Talks on Cease Fire Line

Disagreements Remain as Barrier To Ending War

GENEVA — East and West agreed in principle today, at an extraordinary morning conference of experts, to hold military talks in Geneva shortly to draw lines for an Indochina cease fire.

But three sharp disagreements still remained as a barrier to ending the Indochinese war.

In a two-hour session, devoted to sorting out conflicting proposals for ending the fighting, experts of the nine nations concerned listed the points of agreement and disagreement.

The principal point of agreement called for representatives of the rival military commands to come here to decide how and where to regroup their forces when a cease-fire became effective.

But the experts also listed these major differences:
1. The Communists do not distinguish between the three associated states of Indochina (Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia) and want a simultaneous cease fire throughout Indochina. The West insists that Laos and Cambodia, only slightly touched by the war, be treated separately.

2. The Communists are rigidly demanding a "regrouping" of forces in Laos and Cambodia as well as Viet Nam. The West insists there are no "rebels" in the two smaller states and demands that the Viet Minh Communist "invaders" be withdrawn from Laos and Cambodia in any cease-fire.

3. The Communists demand an end to all American aid to Indochina as a pre-condition to a cease-fire. The West says acceptance of that proposal without adequate guarantees and controls against shipment of Chinese and Russian supplies to the Reds would leave the French Union forces as vulnerable as sitting ducks. At present 80 per cent of French Union supplies come from the United States.

A secret meeting of the full conference on Indochina has been tentatively set for Saturday.

Gov. Stratton to Consider More Aid for Children

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton has promised to give consideration to an increase in the public aid given to displaced children cared for by private welfare agencies.

A delegation which visited the governor Thursday said the present maximum aid would have to be more than doubled to provide adequate care for such children.

The group also told Stratton legislation would be necessary to lift the $40 per month ceiling now imposed on the aid to such children.

S. A. Barker, Springfield, who headed the delegation, said the $40 per month per child limit is supplied on a 50-50 basis by the county treasurer and the state auditor under a 1943 law.

The children involved are wards of county courts who come from broken homes, impoverished families and illegitimate mothers. Children Not Delinquents

McLean County Judge Robert C. Underwood, Bloomington, a member of the delegation, emphasized such children are not delinquents.

Barker said foster homes and private welfare agencies were spending $100 to $150 per month for care of the children.

He said the loss between spending and public aid has been made up in aid from private charity groups, and "generous individuals and foster parents."

But he said "the whole public has a stake in their care" and should be paying it.

Stratton told the group to present an estimate of the appropriation needed for an adequate private child welfare program and present this to the State Budgetary Commission. He told them also to ready their legislative program and he would study the plans.

The group estimated there are some 12,000 children, with 87 per cent in the Chicago area, in foster homes and private agencies. Doubling the present aid limit would require an additional $5,760,000.

Must Train Boys In Leadership, Scout Chief Says

WASHINGTON — The head of the Boy Scouts of America told Congress today the men and women of tomorrow must be trained to leadership "if we are to live and grow as a free people."

In the Boy Scout organization's annual report to Congress, Chief Scout Executive Dr. Arthur A. Schuck said "our priceless, hard-won heritage of freedom must be re-earned and preserved by each generation of Americans. The youth of today... must be strong physically, mentally and spiritually."

He said a record 1,250,000 scouts and explorers attended camps throughout the United States last year and that land improvement and construction of facilities for scout camps represented an investment of 45 million dollars.

He also reported that the national court of honor last year awarded 20 life saving medals, 40 certificates for heroism, 13 medals of merit and 68 certificates of merit.

France Calls More Draftees To Meet Threat

PARIS — France today ordered 45,000 draftees called up five months early so "several" divisions of regular troops will be free to join the fight to save Indochina from communism.

Government sources said the 45,000 or more recruits will be in uniform within six weeks. Normally they would not have been called up before October.

The action was taken as the first of several steps designed to curb the growing threat of Red Viet Minh forces to the vital Red River delta of Indochina and the Tonkin capital of Hanoi.

The Cabinet acted swiftly to put into effect recommendations of French Chief of Staff Gen. Paul Ely.

One of these was for a speedy call-up of new draftees, to release well-trained regulars for the defense of Indochina.

The Cabinet ordered a call-up of the second half of the 1954 class of conscripts—all 20-year-olds.

French draftees must serve 18 months, starting at the age of 20 years.

Premier Joseph Laniel was expected to call another meeting of the Cabinet shortly to consider other recommendations of the Ely report.

The Cabinet acted amid bitter charges that a high French official had "leaked" major provisions of the Ely recommendations to a Paris magazine.

Police raided the offices of the leftist publication "Express" on orders of Defense Minister Rene Pleven and confiscated copies of Saturday's edition.

Informal sources said Pleven has sworn out a warrant against the magazine's unidentified "sources."

Only foreign possessions on the South American continent are British Guiana, Surinam, and French Guiana.

Investigator, Counsel Fired In Labor Probe

WASHINGTON — Rep. George H. Bender said today he's going ahead "full steam" in his nationwide investigation of alleged labor racketeering despite the firing of his ace investigator Downey Rice and counsel Arthur Toll.

The Ohio Republican said he is ready to launch hearings in New York and Chicago and in a number of Ohio cities, including Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus, Akron and Dayton.

Bender's government operations subcommittee, by a five-to-four vote Thursday, fired both Rice and Toll in the climax of a months-long row within the subcommittee. Bender said the action was "outrageous."

Rice is a former FBI agent and associate counsel of the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee. Toll is former Ohio assistant attorney general.

Demos Vote With Hoffman
"I sincerely believe that this action is just another step in a well planned campaign calculated to stop any investigation of labor racketeering by those who have much to lose if the facts are ever brought to the public," Bender said. "It is obvious that our investigation is getting close to some very important and influential people who are determined to protect themselves by stopping these hearings."

Four Democrats — Reps. William L. Dawson (Ill.), Frank M. Karsten (Mo.), Robert H. Mollohan (W. Va.) and L. H. Fountain (N. C.) — teamed up with Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.) to make the five-to-four vote against Bender.

Hoffman has been one of the strongest advocates of a labor racketeering investigation but his own investigation was stymied last year by a committee rebellion led by Bender and several others.

Mollohan insisted the Democrats don't want to interfere with the investigation but to see that it is conducted in a fair way.

22 Teams are Entered in Kiwanis Leagues

Player Rosters Accepted Until June 1; Rules Announced

Twenty-two teams, 16 of which have sponsors, are entered in the Kiwanis baseball league.

There are six teams in the National league, 16-20 years of age; four teams in the American league, 15 years and under; six in the III league, 14 years and under, and six in the Kitty league, 9 to 12 years of age.

Ronnie Doerge, chairman of the Kiwanis sponsored baseball program, stated today team rosters would be accepted until Tuesday, June 1, and any boys desiring to play, but who were not on a team, should submit their name and age to him and an effort would be made to either form additional teams or place the boy on an organization. Every effort will be made to make it possible for all boys wanting to play baseball this summer to have the chance to play, according to Doerge.

Some important rules have been announced — and they have been made for the purpose of balancing the strength of the clubs and improving league operations: (a) no team can play more than five players that were on the high school varsity or that are participating on a semi-pro club; (b) no player active as a pitcher with a semi-pro club will be permitted to pitch in the Kiwanis league, but may play any other position, if otherwise eligible;

Supervisors Have Authority
(c) Any player not used in two successive games may apply to the league for a transfer; (d) any player failing to report for two successive games may be dropped by his team manager;

(e) Any manager may play a game under penalty if he thinks an ineligible player is on the opposing lineup, but protest must be filed before start of game;

(f) Supervisor has the authority to expel a player from a game for unsportsmanlike conduct and suspend player for longer period if conduct warrants;

(g) Each team must start at least seven of players on roster and substitutes must be approved by opposing team;

(h) An adult must be present with each team during game time. League play will start June 7 and all managers are requested to meet June 1 at 7 p. m. at the Masonic temple to discuss league rules and other pertinent matters, Doerge stated today.

Detroit Comeback Aided By Garver and Gromek; Cardinals Lose to Cubs

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Amateur sleuths looking for clues in Detroit's fine comeback this season should study the record of a couple of "G-men" who don't work for the FBI, pitchers Ned Garver and Steve Gromek.

The Garver-Gromek combine has given the Tigers 11 of their 19 victories to date and is as good a reason as any why they're pressing the Yankees for third place instead of kicking around in the second division where they were consigned by the pre-season experts.

Garver is making a strong comeback after suffering from arm trouble while Gromek says his isn't really a away-I just never got to pitch."

Last year at this time, Garver had a 3-5 record while Gromek, who still was with Cleveland, pitched his first inning of the season in a relief chore just a year ago today, and had an 0-0 mark. Gromek, a native of Hamtramck, Mich., the "captive" city within the borders of Detroit, thinks the greatest break of his career came when he was picked up by the Tigers and became a regular starter. He has a 7-2 mark while Garver made it 4-1 Thursday with a solid seven-hit 7-1 win over Baltimore.

Orioles Drop Seventh
Graver struck out five and walked only one in coasting to his triumph after the Tigers scored four runs in the first inning on singles by Frank Bolling, Jim Deelsing, Walt Dropo and Bill Tuttle, interspersed with an error and an infield out. Bobby Young hit a Baltimore homer in the lost cause. It was the seventh straight defeat for the Orioles.

Last year's heroes, the champion Yankees and Dodgers, kept skidding in second straight defeats to the Senators and Phillies, while the thunderous Cubs picked up two more homers by Hank Sauer and Ralph Kiner in a 7-3 victory over the Cardinals. The Phillies made 14 hits including homers by Willie Jones, Johnny Wyrostek and Earl Torgeson in their 11-5 triumph in Brooklyn. The Nats, with President Eisenhower looking on, made it two straight over the Yankees, 7-3.

Bob Miller, who relieved starter Curt Simmons in the fifth and pitched one-hit scoreless relief ball the rest of the way was credited with his second victory without any defeats for the Phils. In addition to the homers, the Phils blasted doubles by Jones, Del Ennis, Gran

Hammer and Smokey Burgess. Five Dodger pitchers paraded to the mound and Don Newcombe was charged with his third defeat. Now the Dodgers have to take on the red-hot Giants, who have won five in a row and are in second place.

President Gives Award
Mr. Eisenhower came out to present a silver bat, emblematic of the American league hitting championship, to Mickey Vernon, his favorite player. Vernon got no hits but almost every other Washington player did in a 10-hit demonstration. The Senators batted around and scored five runs in the fifth, all unearned, because of Yankee errors by Gil McDougald and Jerry Coleman. All six runs off loser Bob Kuzava were unearned, the other coming from an error by Bill Skowron in the first. Jim Busby and Pete Runnels drove in two runs apiece.

Sauer tied Stan Musial of the Cardinals for the major league home run lead with his 14th round tripper. Kiner collected his seventh. The Cubs made 12 hits, Frankie Baumholtz leading the way with three. Bob Rush pitched a seven-inning for his fourth victory. A triple by Wally Moon was the most damaging blow.

There were no other major league games scheduled.

Thursday's Star: Ned Garver, the comebacker for the Tigers, who pitched a seven-hit 7-1 victory over Baltimore for his fourth triumph, striking out five and walking only one.

Chicago Bowen Defeats Anna in Baseball Tourney

PEORIA — Bowen of Chicago and Litchfield advanced into the semi-finals of the Illinois High School Baseball Tournament today with impressive first-round victories to their credit.

Meanwhile, New Trier and Thornton Fractional and Peoria Manual and Belleville were to square off in first-round matches this afternoon.

The victors will join Bowen and Litchfield in a semi-final double-header tonight.

Wayne Sawyer pitched Litchfield to a 5-1 victory over Peoria Central Thursday, giving up only four hits. He retired 16 straight batters, starting with the final out in the first inning. He walked none and struck out seven.

Bowen combined a double, two singles, a walk and two errors in the fourth inning to whip Anna-Jonesboro, 4-1. Wayne McGhee hurled one-hit ball for Bowen.

First-day play was interrupted by severe thundershowers which forced postponement of the other two first-round games.

Batting Coaching for Kiwanis League Players Saturday

The Kiwanis baseball school Saturday will be as follows:

10 a. m. — Batting coaching for boys 13-14 years old.
10:30 a. m. — Batting coaching for boys 15 years old.
11 a. m. — Batting coaching for boys 16-20 years old.
Boys are requested to bring their own bats for these sessions.

Illini Favored To Win Big Ten Track Meet

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Champions will defend their titles in nine individual events this weekend in the 54th annual Big Ten outdoor track meet with Illinois a favorite to grab its fourth straight team title.

The Illini had one of last year's two double winners, Willie Williams, to bolster their chances to win the outdoor track title for the 19th time. Only Michigan has won more league track championships with 20.

Williams Choice in Sprints
Williams captured both the 100 and 220 yard dashes last year and was rated the choice again this time.

The other double winner last year was Roland (Fritz) Nilsson of Michigan, who took both the shot put and discus. He was rated the surest point maker on the squad of 27 Wolverines who ranked as the leading challenger to Illinois for the team crown.

Other individual champions returning were Rich Ferguson of Iowa in the two mile, Jim Wright of Illinois and Bob Ehrhart of Northwestern, who shared the pole vault title. John Carroll of Michigan in the 440, Willard Thomson of Illinois in the high hurdles, and Milton Mead of Michigan and Richard Wham of Illinois, who tied for the high jump crown.

Illini Figure to Take Seven
Illinois, though it entered only 13 men, was expected to grab as many as seven first places to retain its title. Thomson was figured a threat in both hurdle events, Williams in both dashes, and half miler Gene Maynard, quarter miler Ralph Fessenden, and the relay team were given good chances to win.

Indiana also had 27 men listed to compete and was given a dark horse chance to come through with the title. The Hoosiers edged Michigan by 14 point to finish second to Illinois in the indoor meet.

Preliminaries for the event will be held tonight with finals in all events Saturday afternoon.

100-Mile-An-Hour Club IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — The world's most exclusive club holds its annual meeting in this race-mad city tonight and the odds are that never again will all of the same membership be able to attend.

They'd like to, but that's what makes this club so exclusive. For these are men who walk hand-in-hand with death and some of them are certain to misjudge that fatal margin of safety before the roll is called again next year.

They are members of the famed champion 100-Mile-An-Hour Club, which holds its annual banquet tonight. Some are college graduates. Others are untutored grease monkeys. But you don't get into this outfit because of what you know — but rather on what you can do.

Whole 500 Miles
Many a man has driven 100 miles an hour. That wouldn't get you into this organization. To join the champions you have to drive the whole 500 miles of the Indianapolis 500, which will run again Monday, without any relief and at an average speed of 100 miles an hour.

Only 63 daredevils, since Billy Arnold first turned the trick back in 1930, have won membership. Only 44 of them are still alive — for 19 of their elite number have since died at the wheel.

You remember such fearless followers of the roaring road as Ted Horn, Rex Mays and Chet Miller. They were members of this uncautious crew whose one blinding trait is a love of breathless speed. But they are among the missing 19 who made that one final error of judgment.

Not Members
A lot of the good ones haven't made it. Witty Pete DePaolo, a leadfoot who won the 500 in 1925, still grives that he isn't eligible. He had relief for a few laps and he rages now at the memory.

Others, still hoping to get in, are such fine drivers as Chuck Stevenson, two-time winner of the Mexican road-race; Walt Faulkner Tony Bettenhausen and Freddie Agabashian.

Fifteen of the 33 drivers who will start the mad merry-go-round of speed, skill and endurance Monday are members of the club. The entire threatening front row of Jack McGrath, Jimmy Daywalt and Jimmy Bryan represent the club. So do such iron-hearted hopefuls as Bill Vukovich, Ernie McCoy, Jimmy Reece, Duane Carter, Sam Hanks, Troy Ruttman, Mike Nazaruk, Johnny Parsons, Andy Linden, Paul Russo, Art Cross and Jim Rathmann.

The outside 18 will be shooting for one of those prized memberships, too, in the big whirl of Memorial Day. But the 15 have to stand among the favorites because they've already gone all the way in a scramble which tests the steel of heart as well as hand.

For some of them tonight may well be their final meeting. But even when they've gone you'll remember the look of eagles in their eyes.

Aqua Daredevils To Perform Sunday At Cave-in-Rock

The Aqua Daredevils will present a program of stunts and fancy skiing on the Ohio river at Cave-in-Rock Sunday starting at 2 p. m.

The program will run for an hour and a half, Lyle Lee of Galatia, member of the troupe, announced today.

Members of the Aqua Daredevils are Mr. and Mrs. Lee, Gordon Williams and Reuben Barter of Harrisburg and Jim Upton of Galatia.

Lee announced that his group has a contract to perform for four days at the Du Quoin state fair this year. They will work in the lagoon inside the grounds.

Fish have been found three miles deep in the ocean, and crows have been seen on Mount Everest, more than five miles above sea level.

Putting her hands, wet with dishwater, on her hips, Elaine scolded. "Don't stand there staring. Go 'way. You're interfering with progress."

"Not me," Tom said, relaxing and sliding into a kitchen chair. He took out a cigarette and lit it. "My presence is an inspiration. Hurry. Get inspired. If you don't, we'll be late. Or, perish the thought, I'll feel obliged to wipe some dishes."

Elaine spun around back to the sink again. She pulled the plug and the soapy dishwater gurgled down the drain.

"Not tonight, you won't do dishes. Besides, wiping dishes is a waste of dishcloths and woman or man . . . power. Let the dishes drain dry!"

With superficial energy, she quickly scoured the sink, wrung out the dishcloth and hung it over the arm of the faucet. Then, bending over Tom, she kissed him lightly on the forehead, slipped out of the circle of his arm and skipped out of the kitchen.

It wasn't until she was running up the stairs that she realized that the door to Mrs. Dahlstrom's room was open.

Supposing that Mrs. Dahlstrom had heard her scoff at the homely task of drying dishes? Even if Mrs. Dahlstrom hadn't heard what would she say when she saw the rack of dishes draining in the sink? That sink probably hadn't held a dirty dish for more than 15 minutes since the house was built.

Elaine sighed. What was the use? Mrs. Dahlstrom would never give way to modern ways of doing things. Whatever Elaine did, she wouldn't be right.

But Elaine had no time for such thoughts. She must hurry. Tom was already uneasy because she wasn't ready to dash off to the high school this very minute.

He whistled softly when she came back down to the kitchen a few minutes later dressed in her trim navy blue wedding suit. Would he, she pondered and the pondering sent rays of tension to every nerve in her body, whistled at "Molly Brown" later this evening? And the cleaned up person who had been "Molly Brown" a bit later?

"All set for the big show?" he asked, getting up.

She nodded.

"Let's go then."

Fleetingly, she hoped that his mother had decided not to accompany them. What luck! Then, defeated, she knew just as she had known that Tom had come into the kitchen a short while ago, that Mrs. Dahlstrom was standing behind her in the doorway.

She turned. With her usual childish lack of control, she gave voice to the first observation that popped into her head. "How lovely you are!" she declared. "Is that a new dress?"

Acute embarrassment flitted across Mrs. Dahlstrom's face and her pale cheeks colored. She was completely taken aback. Lowering her eyes, she rubbed her hands down the sides of her skirt, smoothing the soft black silk.

"Why, yes," she said, "it is new. There was a funny ring in her voice and when she finally looked at Elaine there was an expression in her eyes as though she wanted to laugh or cry, Elaine wasn't sure which. But she was sure of one thing. She shouldn't have said a word about the dress. One didn't get that personal with Mrs. Dahlstrom.

When Tom held the door of his car open for them, Mrs. Dahlstrom crawled into the back seat. As they drove toward the village, Elaine couldn't rid herself of the strange feeling that rightfully Mrs. Dahlstrom should be sitting in the front where Elaine was seated. Perhaps Tom agreed. Elaine couldn't tell what Tom thought most of the time any more. He just stared over her head or straight through her. Panic flooded over Elaine.

Now memory of Tom's avowal of love carried quite enough conviction to drive the panic out of her mind. People changed, that is, excepting Mrs. Dahlstrom. No doubt her very changelessness would finally convince Tom that Elaine wasn't worthy of a Dahlstrom's love.

Elaine couldn't control the tremor that passed through her. It seemed to rebound from every muscle of her body.

Tom pulled into the parking lot. Elaine scrambled from the car. She practically bounded away toward the rear entrance. She heard her own words trail after her in a thin, high voice, "Enjoy the show. I'll see you later."

Some of her panic disappeared backstage as she was caught up in the pre-curtain bustle and moments bounced forward.

A tall, lanky lad at last jerked the rope that spread the auditorium curtains apart and the show was on.

The first number, a quartet, aroused a boom of applause. Marion Erickson clutched Elaine's arms. "Lenny! Lenny! You hear that? People are actually applauding our show."

Both of them giggled, but Marion could be proud of her work. In a way, so could Elaine be proud. For she had helped.

The applause grew. The din of clapping was sincere after every number. Perhaps it was not a Broadway hit, but it was entertainment. There were rough spots, to be sure, but these were high school boys and girls—and a teacher or two—not professional actors.

Then, at last Elaine heard a male voice that hadn't quite reached its authentic masculine pitch announcing the next number.

"Miss Molly Brown," the voice said. That was Elaine.

Three Students Dismissed In Sex Scandal

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Three University of Virginia students were dismissed and eight others penalized Thursday night in a dormitory sex scandal involving a teen-aged girl that has created a "rift" between the student body and the school administration.

The university's board of visitors announced its decision, which confirmed earlier action by Dean Richard R. Fletcher and President Colgate W. Darden Jr., after two full days of hearings.

Besides the three expulsions, one student's degree was ordered held up for a year, one student was suspended until Sept. 1955, five suspended until Sept. 1954 and two suspended until Feb. 1955.

The board — without calling names — recommended, however, that partial exceptions be made in the cases of three ROTC and ROC students who would fail to obtain commissions if penalized as directed.

Dr. L. I. Hill, Montgomery, Ala., performed the first successful surgery upon the human heart.

Gustav Adolf VI, of Sweden, was heir to the throne for 68 years before becoming king, longest wait of any European monarch.

Former Local Girl Receives National Art Scholarship

Miss Carolyn J. Rice

Miss Carolyn J. Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rice, 6552 Kimbark avenue, Chicago, who are former residents of Harrisburg, is one of two Hyde Park high school students in Chicago to win scholarships awarded by the National Scholastic Awards Exhibition.

The winners were chosen from 175,000 entries submitted to the 1954 Exhibition from art classes (grades seven to twelve) throughout the country. More than 1,500 pieces were chosen for the exhibit being held at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa., through May 31.

Miss Rice has won several gold keys on her art entries at the Fair Store in Chicago. She plans to take a college course in Art Education.

Miss Rice feels that she owes a great deal of gratitude to two former art teachers in Harrisburg, Mrs. H. B. Bauman at Junior high and Miss Kathryn Rice at the Harrisburg Township high school, which she attended before moving to Hyde Park area.

She will be graduated June 25 from high school.
